Galeria, international design exhibit: Icograda invites visual communication designers, illustrators and typographers who are Members of Icograda* to submit digital versions of original work. Send us work that exhibits original expression, creativity, wit and effective visual communication.

Selected work for Galeria is featured on the homepage of the Icograda website for a one-week period to an international audience concerned with graphic design, visual communication, design management, promotion, education, research and journalism. The work then remains a permanent part of the online Galeria archive. Designs for posters, postcards, book jackets, and other printed material are most suited to Galeria. Chosen work is accompanied by an appropriate description and information about the designer. Please ensure that submitted work communicates effectively when viewed on a computer screen.

By submitting work to Icograda for Galeria, you must acknowledge:

- that you are the original creator of the work
- that you have the right to submit the work
- that you have obtained any necessary permission to exhibit the work from any third parties who may have a claim to the work you are submitting

By submitting the work, you authorise Icograda to display it on its website. Icograda reserves the right to display the work it deems to be most appropriate for its website and to accept or reject the work you submit, without further notice to you, both now and in the future.

If Icograda selects your submitted work, the information and description you submit will be displayed with the work. You must fill out each field in the following form for your submission to qualify. Icograda reserves the right to edit submitted text for clarity. To see an example of how submissions will be displayed, please view the current Galeria on the Icograda site at www.icograda.org/feature/galleria.htm

Send the completed form and any questions you may have to the Icograda Secretariat at communications@icograda.org

Galeria submissions are accepted from members of Icograda Member organisations, faculty and students of Icograda Education Network Members, and Icograda Friends. To see if you are eligible, visit www.icograda.org/members/members.htm*
